

Scott Irick

My name is Scott Irick and my wife and I built our retirement home in Lavenham in 2017. I am a retired Certified Public Accountant and have previously served as a board member in various positions in community-based organizations. The most recent of which was as Treasurer of a HOA outside of Atlanta. I am currently active in several local community bands. My wife and I are avid hikers and enjoy playing pickleball.

My interest in serving on the board is to better represent the interests of all homeowners. While each HOA and community have their own opportunities and challenges, I do have a firm grasp of HOA operations having worked with a management company and provided oversight on finances and procurement practices.

I would greatly appreciate your vote of confidence in the upcoming election to help bring change and assist in making a difference for all Collington residents.
